INTEGRATED LOGISTICS

It's a new way of conceiving the logistical organization of your business. Separating, analyzing and optimizing services can create a much more competitive logistical system, providing more services at a lower cost. Being efficient is not enough, cost control must be combined with efficiency. The market for third party logistics is worth 83 billion euros.

Data gathered by the 2019 Contract Logistics Observatory of the Polytechnic University of Milan shows a dynamic sector with four innovation areas:

- a) software for the logistic process management
- b) new logistic services (software enabled)
- c) digital platforms to match supply and demand
- d) hardware (devices, transportation)

Best practices in customer/consumer management of B2C e-commerce tend to have a deep impact on customer service in the B2B business sector, aimed at companies.
